Deradicalising 'their' ABC

By Staunch Atheist

It seems a month is too long between articles. I plan when I write, and that's the way I like it. It gives me the opportunity to read as much background material as possible, because my personality dictates, that you do not open your mouth on subjects you know precious little about. This month's plan was to cover the Government's intention to strip dual-nationals of their citizenship if they join terrorist groups such as ISIS (in any capacity) and head to the 'forbidden zone'. So, not being American, I waded my way through our, very boring, constitution to see if we are legally justified to banish traitors. Because, let's just call a spade a spade shall we? Traitors are what they are! And, it seems, with only a minor tweak of the legislation, indeed we are.

Then I got sick. So, tucked up in bed, feeling sorry for myself, I convinced myself that watching TV was, in fact, valid research. And I know people like to say that the ABC has a left-leaning bias and it's 'their' ABC and all that, but I've always thought, that apart from a few minor omissions in the news, it was largely a storm in a tea cup - until ABC decided to put a former terrorist suspect into a LIVE TV audience!

And, being from a mixed-race family, I know what is going on here. This overcompensating for people of colour, in a vain attempt to disguise their racist undercurrent is the sickening new face of the west. Give me a minute, and I will explain.

My sister is Indian-Malay - well half of her is anyway. And when we are together, people positively swoon. She can do no wrong. And silly me, I always thought it was because she was better looking than me. But this did not bear close examination. Even hetero women were doing it. Why? Because they're racist, that's why. And all this falling over themselves to please my sister is a thinly disguised attempt to hide that racism. Because racism is not cool in the current climate. But upon reflection, I think we prefer the overt racists. At least they are being honest.

So, this is the trap that the ABC have fallen into. Former terrorism suspect David Hicks, was granted a question to the panel of QandA, but sensibly, via video link. But not volatile Zaky Mallah, who had a massive tantrum when he was denied a passport, bought a gun & hatched a plan, threatening to kill members of ASIO. But he was none, too bright and tried to sell a video outlining his plans to an undercover agent.

And then of course, shrieks of entrapment ensued, and he pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of threatening to kill an officer of the commonwealth for which he was sentenced to 2.5 years. The court just couldn't prove, beyond reasonable doubt, that he actually intended to carry out his plan, despite the fact they had documents, videos, a gun - and a will! In my experience, people who are merely big-noting themselves don't usually make wills, but I wasn't on the jury...more's the pity.

So what was he doing in a live TV audience? My firm belief is that this was more to do with overcompensating for people of colour than it was about properly assessing an immature, self-confessed terrorist sympathiser who rants on social media about 'whores' who should be raped over a desk and confessions that he would not mind dying a 'martyr' and virtually applauds the actions of terrorist in the UK for chopping up a British Soldier. It's all the governments fault of course, they were forced to do it because of British foreign policy. Hear that? FOREIGN policy. Not policy affecting British citizens.

Predictably, the show went pear shaped when the minister to whom Mallah posed his question said that he would happily see the likes of him banished from the country. Pity Mallah is not a dual national. Mallah, demonstrated this immaturity and volatility by retorting it was the minister's fault if Muslims joined ISIS. He argues, that the government are bullying Muslims and causing them to join ISIS by stripping them of their citizenship -for joining ISIS. Not sure about you, but the logic of this statement evades me. His message, though, was loud and clear. It sounds very much like a Muslim call to jihad, does it not?

Almost immediately, the Muslim community went into damage control. And despite the court's cautionary statement regarding giving this man any media attention at all, they called him back on prime time, commercial TV in the hope that he would retract and give up this notion that jihad is always somebody else's fault. But he didn't. The blame game continued. And Mallah continued to tweet the 'orgasm' (sic) he was having at all the media attention...meanwhile, he maintains that jihad is the government's fault for going to Iraq. And jihad in Syria is the government's fault for NOT going to Syria.

Coincidentally, one of the interviewers was Waleed Aly, a Muslim apologist who defended and voted for the Grand Mufti of Australia who hailed suicide bombers as heroes. Aly has also derided Ayaan Hirsi Ali as a 'rock star' and implied she was speaking against Islam to make money. Waleed works in the global terrorism department of a prominent university and has a grand plan to counsel returned ISIS fighters, stamp them 'deradicalised' and use them to deradicalise potential jihadists. Essentially, Waleed would like to use Australians as his guinea pigs in an experiment to see whether returned jihadists can convince Muslims that, not only is channelling your inner savage a really bad idea, but kidnapping innocent girls as sex slaves is not all its cracked up to be. Ok. So let's have a look at the facts.

To date, we know that of the 25 Muslims who went to fight for a terrorist group and returned to Australia, 18 of them were involved in planning a terrorist attack upon their return. And for those whose maths is a little under par, that's 72%. This is not just a small case of over sensitivity or paranoia in a climate of fear.

This is the reality. So how is your grand plan looking now Waleed? Mallah has had counselling. And it is evident that it hasn't worked. Today, he is still the volatile and reactionary character who will turn in a second after any perceived slight to his character. So who wants to be one of Waleed's guinea pigs as he attempts to counsel and reintegrate Western Sydney bogans, who, more than likely, flew off to Syria to get themselves some street cred? The idea that we can learn and benefit from these bogans is preposterous to say the least.

Nope, the best thing to do is banish them. And those with sole Australian citizenship too, if we can find a legal avenue.

One theme that continues to rear its ugly head in this concept of jihad is the apologist's complete and utter refusal to attribute personal responsibility. Waleed's wife, dressed up like the star of 'I dream of Genie', put in an appearance on ABC News breakfast to let us know that Charlie Hedbo was racist (and hence deserved to be shot) and spokesperson for Hizb ut-Tahrir appears to inform us that ISIS did not 'form in a vacuum'. ISIS are our fault. And Al Qaeda is our fault. And Zaky Mallah planned to take out ASIO because of New South Wales

'If a fish lives its life in a fishbowl that is painted black on the outside, it can have no idea of the world outside the bowl'

My entire life I have fought against the stereotype of being the weaker sex. I've never accepted that I cannot do something purely because I was born a woman. Does this come from being born in a free society? Possibly.

In Islam this goes much further than physically being the weaker sex. It runs into every facet of a woman's life. Islamic customs and sharia law restricts a woman in her education, police. And on and on it goes. But the rhetoric is always the same. Our fault. Never the Muslims.

So, to contextualise this rhetoric. If you are telling me that American foreign policy in the Middle East was so abhorrent, so restrictive for you in Australia that you simply had to leave the comfort of your home, fly to Syria and cruelly and viciously, behead, murder and rape entirely innocent civilians and children from another religion, then don't come back. You're not Australian!

employment, inheritance, genital circumcision, dress, marriageable age, birth control, divorce, sex, justice in the case of sex crimes, property rights and prayers.

The Quran has outlined and structured the way in which a woman should live her life on a daily basis to protect her virtue and her families honour.

So why are we afraid to stand up for the women who cannot stand up for themselves or even realise that they need standing up for? Are we scared of the repercussions of exposing this? Why?

By Stop the Mosques

Metaphorically, a 'Trojan Horse' is viewed as being any trick or stratagem that causes a target to allow a foe into a securely protected bastion or space.

A Mosque is not just a place of Moslem worship. It is a building where future radicals and potential terrorists can be spawned?

The Ancient people of Troy where deceived and killed because of the Greek Trojan horse.

Are YOU going to ignore the lessons of history and allow Islamic Trojan horses, in the form of mosques to invade our lands and threaten our future security?

Hiding behind the burqa

By MJ

To this day in Islamic court's talaq is still used. It is a controversial practice called the talaq or "triple-talaq."

Anytime a wife is not menstruating, a husband may divorce her by saying, "I divorce you, I divorce you, I divorce you," effectively throwing her out on the street.

Qur'an 066.005

YUSUFALI: It may be, if he divorced you (all), that Allah will give him in exchange consorts better than you,- who submit (their wills), who believe, who are devout, who turn to Allah in repentance, who worship (in humility), who travel (for Faith) and fast,- previously married or virgins.

PICKTHAL: It may happen that his Lord, if he divorce you, will give him in your stead wives better than you, submissive (to Allah), believing, pious, penitent, devout, inclined to fasting, widows and maids.

SHAKIR: Maybe, his Lord, if he divorce you, will give him in your place wives better than you, submissive, faithful, obedient, penitent, adorers, fasters, widows and virgins.

Islam is not a religion of peace nor does Islam mean peace. Islam means submission!

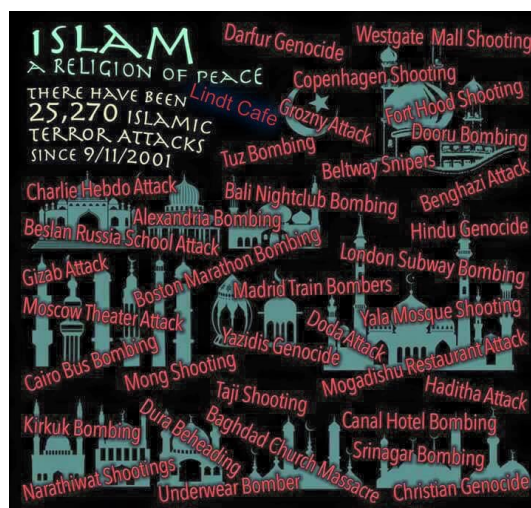

By Truthophobes: Raising Awareness for Muslimah Liberation

Most people are simply unaware that Islam is not a religion but a totalitarian political cult ideology. It compels it's followers into blind obedience, teaches intolerance, brutality and binds all Muslims and Non Muslims into a struggle deriving directly from the 7th century nomadic, predatory, Bedouin culture.

Islam means submission to the will of Allah and the teachings as depicted in the Quran which include jihad, the genocidal slaughter of infidels (Non Believers) by the sword, beheading, stoning to death, intolerance of others religions, forcing submission to Islam, beating of women, FGM, death to homosexuals by throwing off buildings...to name a few...The ultimate goal of Islamic jihad is the domination of Islam over the entire world, many can find evidence of this daily by the actions of Islam's followers all over the world.

Within Islam one is considered a moderate if one supports the goals of jihad if not the tactics. Those who totally reject the violent teachings of Islam are considered apostates of Islam and as such are condemned to death. Moderate Muslims are peaceful "in spite of Islam" not because of it. The religion of peace is a concept the west is eager to embrace all in the name of political correctness – refusing to believe that a major world religion poses such a devastating threat to humanity.

Just look at the photos, videos, newspapers, television, social media, most of which comes directly from the Muslim world. Understand that elements of Sharia Law are creeping into our daily lives under the shelter of religious freedom and political correctness. Listen and learn about the real Islam, then share it with your friends and family. We need to act to protect future generations and ours from this evil before it's too late!

Truthophobes: Poisoning the Roots of Evil - Mohammed and the 3 Books of Islam

Islam as "a religion of peace" is the public relations side of Islam promoted by our ever so gullible media, and ill-advised politicians.

Deception and terror are Islam's most highly developed skill, and when you understand Islam's Prophet, Mohammed, it's not hard to see why.

It's all about Muhammad, a biography of the world's most notorious prophet

By F.W. Burleigh

Muhammad fled his hometown of Mecca to Yathrib (Medina) in A.D. 622 after the Meccans decided they had to kill him to preserve their way of life. In Yathrib, he built a mosque and used it as his Al-Qaeda—his base—to wage war on the Meccans and then on people who refused to accept him and his religion. He carried out at least 80 raids on caravans, towns, villages, and Bedouin encampments, killing, plundering, and enslaving until his death in A.D. 632. He was famous for his chilling battle cry, “Kill! Kill! Kill!” This article is excerpted from It's All About Muhammad, A Biography of the World's Most Notorious Prophet, and it attempts to capture what it was like to be in the courtyard of Muhammad's Al-Qaeda on the eve of a raid.

Imagine the scene at Muhammad's mosque on the eve of a raid:

Muhammad is sitting in the pulpit of the preacher platform. He is angry and is shaking his fist at the crowds in the prayer area and courtyard. Fighting in the cause of Allah is an obligation for submitters, he tells them, but many of the faithful are resisting going to war and have been coming to him with excuses.

He reminds them of their duty by reciting one of his Koran verses: “Fighting is enjoined on you, and it is an object of dislike to you; and it may be that you dislike a thing while it is good for you, and it may be that you love a thing while it is evil for you, and Allah knows, while you do not know.”(1)

The rewards are great for the faithful who fight in the cause of Allah and his messenger. Muhammad reminds them of the black shepherd of Khaybar, a story by then famous because the shepherd was the only man to have gained Paradise without ever once praying. He was an Abyssinian slave who took care of a herd for one of the Khaybar lords.

During the siege of Marhab's castle he went to Muhammad to ask him what was required of his religion. “I invite you to bear witness that there is no god but God, that I am the Messenger of God, and that you will not worship any other than God.”(2) The slave asked, “What will I get if I bear witness to that and believe in God?”

“What must you do to gain paradise?” Muhammad shouts to his followers from the pulpit. “Jihad! Jihad!” they cry. “Say it again so that Allah can hear you. “JIHAD! JIHAD! JIHAD!” they shout.

Muhammad replied, “Paradise, if you die believing that.” That was all it took. The shepherd grabbed Muhammad's hand to make the pledge of fealty and rushed out to fight. He was killed in battle that same day without having had even a moment to pray. Muhammad assures the congregation the black shepherd was taken into paradise and was immediately rewarded. And what a reward! Muhammad had a vision of it: “I saw his two wives, houris, competing to take off his gown; they were entering the space between his skin and his gown.”(3)

Truthophobes: Poisoning the Roots of Evil - Mohammed and the 3 Books of Islam

During Mohammed's reign the evil, master assassin committed many a barbaric & sickly crime, and this continues today; The “holy texts” within the Quran prove that beyond a shadow of a doubt:

Qur'an 9:39. Unless ye go forth, (for Jihad) He will punish you with a grievous penalty, and put others in your place; but Him ye would not harm in the least. [Allah's hatred to those who are reluctant to join Islamic jihad]

Qur'an 9:73. O Prophet! Strive hard against the unbelievers and the Hypocrites, and be firm against them. Their abode is Hell, - an evil refuge indeed.

A new expedition in the cause of Allah is at hand, and it needs people to do what they do not like. Muhammad offers the usual bribes of heavenly sex or terrestrial booty, but the best persuader is the hellfire threat: Allah gives them an opportunity to fight for him as a test of their worthiness. It is a test of their faith. If they fail the test by finding excuses not to go to war when they are asked to go, then they are hypocrites —fake believers—and the fake believers are destined for hellfire, for Allah hates hypocrites. They must prove their worthiness, prove their faith, prove their love for Allah and his messenger by doing what they may not like such as sallying forth into battle and perhaps dying. It is good for them. “God knows and you do not know!”

From the pulpit, Muhammad surveys the congregation, a mass of faces looking up at him with rapt attention. He has them where he wants them, trapped between Heaven and Hell. He jumps to his feet and shouts down at them, “Could it be that you desire hellfire?”

“No!” they cry.

“What do you desire then?”

“Paradise, O Messenger of God. Paradise! Give us the chance for Paradise!”

“What must you do to gain Paradise?”

“Jihad!”

“I can’t hear you!”

“JIHAD!”

“Say it again so that Allah can hear you!”

“JIHAD, JIHAD, JIHAD!”

They still need more rousing to pump them up for action. They need to smell blood, taste blood, think blood. He raises trembling hands to the heavens as if to plead to God for mercy upon these miserable souls, then shouts down at them: “What is the cry in battle that is most pleasing to Allah?”

“Kill, kill!”

“I can’t hear you!”

“KILL, KILL!”

“Say it again so that Allah can hear you!”

“KILL, KILL, KILL, KILL!” they shout as they leap to their feet and thrust their fists in the air.

And off they go on another raid, thirty of them, or three hundred, and soon three thousand and eventually thirty thousand and more, to attack at dawn and kill and plunder and subjugate and ultimately to enslave with what has enslaved them.(4)

(4) This scene is a construction based on details from multiple sources that suggest Muhammad’s sermons were often angry and manipulative, intended to get people to fight and die for him. “Kill, Kill!” or “O Conqueror, kill, kill!” were Muhammad’s battle cries in numerous raids and pitched battles.
